

Alumni Resource Network (ARN) Program

Frequently Asked Questions

What can I expect from the alumni I reach out to?

Our alumni are happy to provide insights about the city in which they live and, occasionally depending on a match between their specialty and yours, a specific residency. Most offer invaluable professional insight on the regional medical community and your prospective medical center.

How many times may I use the ARN program?

You may reach out to as many alumni as you wish in the cities where you have interviews or are considering a residency position.

Who are the ARN volunteers?

All volunteers are OHSU alumni. They have attended the OHSU School of Medicine for their MD degree, their graduate medical education, or both.

Where are ARNs available?

We have volunteers from all over the United States, located in the major metropolitan centers. Although there are over 17,000 OHSU School of Medicine alumni located throughout the country, a small sampling participate in the ARN program.

How do I sign up to utilize the ARN program?

Please email us with a request to receive a current list of cities in which volunteers have indicated they are available. After you have connected with an alumnus/a, remember to thank him or her for their time and expertise.

Who do I contact if I have questions about the ARN program?
